What does the Written Examination consist of?

- The written exam is designed to assess critical cognitive skills and abilities (reading, comprehension, mathematical reasoning, map reading), mechanical aptitude, and personal characteristics related to success as a Firefighter.
- Interested applicants can order the practice National Fire Select Test (NFST) Candidate Orientation Guide by clicking this link: <https://www.fpsi.com/product/nfst-candidate-orientation-guide/>
- Once the written exam is administered, a cut-off score will be determined. At least the top seventy scoring applicants, plus any applicants tied at the same score, will automatically move on to the Firefighter Physical Agility Test. Applicants who have preference points and meet the minimum cut-off score will be added to the Firefighter Physical Agility Test.

Am I Eligible for Preference Points?

- UFA offers preference points to eligible veterans or spouses of veterans in accordance with state and federal legislation. Applicants who have been employed by UFA may also receive preference points if eligible. Please refer to the Preference Eligibility Form for more information. Preference points are added to the applicant's final written exam score.

What does the Firefighter Physical Agility Test consist of?

- The Firefighter Physical Agility Test is based on general firefighting duties. This exam includes lifting, carrying, pulling, and climbing components. The test is designed as an obstacle course to closely simulate the endurance a firefighter employee must possess at the scene of a fire.
 - Link to Video – (Link Coming Soon)
- Applicants must pass the Firefighter Physical Agility Test with a cut-off time of at least 13:00 minutes to be scheduled for an oral board interview.
- Please be advised that you should be in good physical condition to participate in the firefighter physical agility test and to prevent injury or aggravation of any existing conditions that you may have. All applicants will be required to sign a release of liability.

What does an oral board interview look like?

- The oral board interview will consist of structured, behaviorally-based questions. Fire officers and other firefighters or firefighter specialists will evaluate your responses.

How does UFA make their selection after the oral board interviews are complete?

- At the conclusion of the oral board interview, the hiring committee evaluates each applicant, placing them into "Hiring Bands" based on the likelihood of success during recruit camp and in a career as a Firefighter. To make these determinations, the group considers various information about the applicants, including their performance in all examination components, the information shared during the oral board interviews, their expressed level of interest or commitment, and their past work history.

Do I have to go to a traditional Firefighter recruit camp?

- Applicants selected will participate in a 16-week recruit camp, learning fire skills and earning certifications necessary to perform the job duties of a firefighter. Those applicants who do not possess an EMS licensure will attend EMT school, which UFA will provide.

What happens after the 16-week recruit academy is complete?

- The Fire Training Division and Operations will assign you to a station for 2-3 rotations. The rotations typically last three months each.

What would my potential salary be?

- Applicants will be placed in the Firefighter pay step on the Firefighter Pay Plan starting at step 1, based on your EMS certification. 23-24-Payplan.png \(1220x401\) \(unifiedfire.org\)

When would my benefits be effective?
